

Estevan Sharks Athlete

This is Cameron Gillingham, an enthusiastic and eager 13 year old athlete playing for the Estevan Sharks. He has been playing water polo for the last 4 years with Estevan since his family has moved from New Zealand. Last season he made his first jump to play with Team Sask last year in the 2016-17 NCL season. He found out about water polo with ads being sent to his school – Spruce Ridge, after trying it and meeting the community he hasn't looked back since!

Water polo keeps Cameron busy and active, while not in the pool he loves to read, play badminton with his friends and in the summer time go to water ski. In the school year he also keeps active with his band playing Baritone for the last 3 years. Between all those activities he would always love some “Calgary Stampede” chicken and Greek salad his mom makes, he knows how important it is for an athlete to eat well.

He is looking forward to a new season with the Estevan sharks and hopes to play with Team Sask again in the NCL season. He has set many goals for himself to achieve this with improving his shot, his speed and awareness. Knowing with those additional improvements the Sharks are going to be dominating provincial league events!
